- OHA has met with one CCO and Local Public Health Authority home visiting partner to understand more about what the partnership and details of work might look like.
- OHA would like to support CCOs and their partners to move forward in setting up partnerships and related billing relationships and OHA's Medicaid division is best poised to support this work.

Public Health Home Visiting and Social-Emotional Interventions

What is Home Visiting?

“Early childhood home visiting is a service delivery strategy that matches expectant parents and caregivers of young children with a designated support person—typically a trained nurse, social worker, or early childhood specialist—who guides them through the early stages of raising a family. Services are voluntary, may include caregiver coaching or connecting families to needed services, and provided in the family's home or another location of the family's choice.”
